DETAILED ACTION

Examiner's amendment

An examiner's amendment to the record appears below. Should the changes and/or additions be unacceptable to applicant, an amendment may be filed as provided by 37 CFR 1.312. To ensure consideration of such an amendment, it MUST be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee.

Authorization for this examiner's amendment was given in a telephone interview with Andrew Peret on January 22, 2004.

The application has been amended as follows:

Claim 21, line 7, after "interposer" insert --.--.

Claim 28, line 1, delete "openings" insert --opening--.

Claim 37, line 1, delete "openings" insert --opening--.

Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 21-41 are allowed.

The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance: prior art references do not teach or render obvious a method of manufacturing an electronic package comprising the step of securing a laminated conductor to the interposer including securing a positive portion of the laminated conductor to a positive section of the interposer and securing a negative portion of the laminated conductor to a negative section of the interposer (claim 21).

Prior art references do not teach or render obvious an electronic package comprising a laminated conductor including a positive portion that is connected to a positive section of the interposer and a negative portion that is connected to a negative section of the interposer (claim 24).

Prior art references do not teach or render obvious an electronic package comprising a laminated conductor including a pair of conducting sheets separated by a dielectric layer, one of the sheets including an opening and the other sheet including a projection that extends into the opening (claim 27).

Prior art references do not teach or render obvious an electronic package comprising a laminated conductor including a pair of conducting sheets separated by a dielectric layer, one end of the laminated conductor being folded over such that each of the conducting sheets engages the interposer (claim 30).

Prior art references do not teach or render obvious a computer system comprising a laminated conductor including a positive portion that is connected to a positive section of the interposer and a negative portion that is connected to a negative section of the interposer (claim 33).

Prior art references do not teach or render obvious a computer system comprising a laminated conductor including a pair of conducting sheets separated by a dielectric layer, one of the sheets including an opening and the other sheet including a projection that extends into the opening (claim 36).

Prior art references do not teach or render obvious a computer system comprising a laminated conductor including a pair of conducting sheets separated by a dielectric layer, one end of the laminated conductor being folded over such that each of the conducting sheets engages the interposer (claim 39).

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."
